

Town Borrowings Reduced To New Low, Council Told

Newmarket is in an excellent financial position, N. L. Mathews, K.C., town clerk and treasurer, told Newmarket town council on Monday evening.

"The borrowing by-law was set at $70,000," Mr. Mathews told the council. "So far we have not borrowed any money for capital expenditures and we have borrowed only $10,000 for current expenses. We don't expect to have to borrow any more."

Mr. Mathews stated that this was the lowest borrowing since he became clerk and treasurer 20 years ago.

"One of the main reasons is that we have improved our cash position by having sufficient reserves for uncollectible accounts," he said. "We used to borrow $50,000 and $60,000. It is more remarkable since our borrowing limit is $24,000."

"Talk about your pay-as-you-go systems," he smiled. "We've got one."

Say Vocational Guidance Increasingly Important

C. H. Jamieson, a member of Newmarket high school staff, will take the Ontario department of education's "better living" course in physical and health education and cadet training at Lake Couchiching from June 19 to 30.

This is a revised defence course, Chairman A. N. Belugin explained to Newmarket high school board at a meeting on Monday evening.

Speaking of a circular that he had received concerning a course in vocational guidance, Mr. Belugin said that this subject was receiving increasing attention but that it was not going to be possible for a member of the staff to undertake such a course this summer.

The new principal, J. W. Lockhart, will take an Air Cadet training course this summer so that he can serve as an officer of the Newmarket squadron, said Mr. Belugin.

The tennis courts at the high school are being put into shape, W. J. Geer reported to the board.

Miss Margaret Lawton has resigned as a member of the teaching staff to accept a position at Windsor, her home, Mr. Belugin stated.

TOWN WORRIED ABOUT SIDEWALKS AND WEEDS

"Is there any way we can get help for the road and bridge committee?" Councillor Frank Bowser, chairman of the committee, wondered at a Newmarket town council meeting on Monday evening.

"We are months behind with weeds and sidewalk work," said Mr. Bowser.

"You could get the work done by men who can come in from the farm for two or three days," thought Councillor J. A. Perks.

"If you can't do it you will have to let it go," said Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales.

"There are a lot of things that have to be looked after," said Mr. Bowser.

"If people would cut their own weeds it would simplify it a lot," said Mayor Dales.

GATHER LINES TO AID RUSSIAN WAR VICTIMS

Two Newmarket stores, Dominion and Loblaw, are taking part in a linen shower for Russia under the auspices of the Canadian Aid to Russia Fund.

IS PRISONER OF WAR

Mr. and Mrs. George Leeder, Newmarket, received word on Tuesday that their son, WO2 Alver Leeder, who was reported missing in May, is a prisoner of war in Germany. His wife, the former Helen Robson, lives in Toronto.

RADIO CLASS DESCRIBED TO SCHOOL BOARD

Fred L. Hall, vice-principal of the Alexander Muir school, gave a report on his attendance at the Ontario Educational Association convention in Toronto, at a Newmarket public school board meeting.

"On the morning of Tuesday, April 11, I journeyed to the Central technical school, where I was to meet with a group of teachers with whom I have had the honor of taking a shop practice and manual training course during the past two winters."

"As you are perhaps aware, the manual training and shop practice branch of the O.E.A. was held at the Central technical school and was under the supervision of a number of teachers who are specialists in that line, the president this year being S. Hutchison of Toronto."

"We met in a room on the first floor where we were addressed by speakers on the topic of training boys in order that they might go out into life with a reasonable amount of skill along these particular lines. It was pointed out that under the extensive war-training plan young men, who are little more than boys, are set out on a course which is moulded and adapted to the needs and capacities of the students."

"Those who have the ability to absorb the knowledge rapidly are allowed to do so, while others of a slower or more methodical nature are allowed to travel at their own pace. This idea, it was thought, could be utilized in our training in school, and many boys could be sent out with much more skill than if they were forced to slow down to the pace suitable to others."

"After these addresses and some brief business we went on a tour of some of the shops of the school which were occupied by classes of the British Commonwealth air training plan. We saw workers at various tasks, such as lathe work, filing, precision grinding, bumping, polishing, fabric patching on planes, radio work, forging, motor mechanics, etc."

"We would have liked to have browsed a little longer to watch the workers but a schedule was to be followed and our guides hurried us from shop to shop in order to finish our tour on time."

"We then retired to the assembly hall where we had the opportunity and pleasure of watching two films, each about 20 minutes in length on the care and operation of a machine lathe."

"Although the information gathered from these films is not applicable to our work in the Newmarket schools, because there is no lathe and because it is somewhat advanced work for boys of public school age, nevertheless it was of great interest and benefit to us in our course."

"It was then noon, and we dined together so that we might have a discussion of the morning's program. During the lunch hour we exchanged many work sheets which we had prepared during the tour of the shops, and, which, with some adaptations, would be of use to us in our own shops. During this time, a companion and I decided to visit the radio broadcast at Hart House theatre immediately after dinner."

"This demonstration was presented by the CBC and was under the direction of R. S. Lambert, supervisor of educational broadcasts. There was a screen dividing the platform into two parts—the one the broadcasting studio, the other the classroom."

"In the classroom was Mr. Abel and his class of about 12 pupils. The story dramatized was that of Paul Cain, the famous Canadian painter, whose likenesses of the North American Indians are unequalled."

"It seemed, in the beginning, a matter of fact story, but as it progressed our interest grew. His love for and skill at painting, his childish ambitions becoming realities, his trips across the west, fur-traders, ships, horses, rough men, storms, rapids, Indians—all were depicted in such reality that we could not but compare such a story to one read from a book or told without sound effects."

"It became something real, and I know that the pupils on the other half of the platform lived with Paul Cain, travelled with him, met dangers with him and came to know a chapter of Canadian history which they will never forget."

ASKS PERMISSION TO PROSECUTE OWNERS

N. L. Mathews, K.C., town clerk and solicitor, recalled at a town council meeting on Monday evening that the largest delegation ever at a town council meeting was in 1924 when the by-law ordering dogs to be tied up from May to September was first passed.

The subject came up when Councillor Wm. Dixon told the council that some dog owners were defying the police and leaving their dogs untied. Mr. Dixon is chairman of the police committee and asked the council's permission to prosecute such dog owners. No action was taken.

"There is a chemical that can be purchased which, when spread around trees and shrubs, will settle the dog nuisance and it won't hurt the dogs," said Reeve F. A. Lundy.

(By Mrs. G. E. Case, Newmarket Red Cross)

The 12th blood donors' clinic was held Friday, June 9, at the United church. One hundred and fifty-four donations were made. Miss Anderson was the technician in charge of the mobile unit. Gold buttons were awarded to Murray Faris, Bradford, for 14 donations and Robert Brown, Vandon, for 11 donations.

This has been the most successful clinic to date and indicates an increasing interest on the part of the community in this very necessary work.

Bowser Saves Elm From Axe, Mayor Says Tree Menace

"The old elm tree" in the middle of Timothy St. was up for considerable discussion at the Newmarket town council meeting on Monday evening. Following the council meeting, the members journeyed over to Timothy St. and after viewing the tree left it with Councillor Frank Bowser, chairman of the road and bridge committee, to decide whether or not the tree should be cut down.

"The tree has been trimmed considerably and is very lopsided," Mr. Bowser told the council. "The east side is practically all gone."

Mr. Bowser explained to the council that two steeplejacks, Robt. Greer and Emelian Iwach, had been trimming the tree on Monday. He said that the Horticultural Society had recommended that they get suggestions from Rev. Henry Cotton and that Mr. Cotton had been giving them advice.

"A limb dropped from the east side and knocked the bark off," said Mr. Bowser. "The tree is all doly. We put a hatchet in and drove a limb in eight or nine inches. The tree is very unsafe."

"It is a menace to the community," said Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales.

"The steeplejacks recommended iron bands to tighten the tree, as it will not be the proper shape, and ice and wind storms might cause damage," said Mr. Bowser.

"I feel it would be in the best interests of the town for safety if it were taken out," said Mayor Dales.

"Iron bands cut off circulation and it won't be long before it is dead," said Councillor Wm. Dixon. "The best thing would be to take it down."

"It has stood well all these years, because it was well balanced," said Deputy-Reeve Arthur D. Evans.

Mayor Dales suggested that a plaque be put there and the tree taken down. It is thought that Newmarket had its beginnings under this tree and that it was here that the Indians traded with the white men and the first market was started. This is said to be the origin of the name "Newmarket."

"We don't want to spend money to put bands around it, because it is a menace," said Mayor Dales.

"We must be sure to balance the tree," said Mr. Bowser. "There is growth on the west and north sides, but we have removed practically all on the east and south sides of the tree."

Mr. Bowser commended highly the work of Mr. Greer and Mr. Iwach, who completed their work on Tuesday. Mr. Bowser decided that the tree should be given another chance.

R. A. Thompson, Toronto, purchased the building from the Irving estate and owned it at the time of the fire.

WHAT OTHERS THINK

THE WORLD I WANT

By Blanche E. Sedgewick, Sutton West

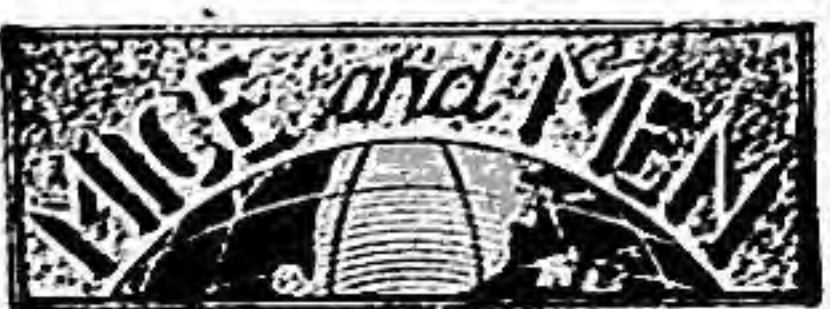

Today I am faced with a political fear—a fear that the insistent demand for far-reaching economic and social reforms is but the nuclear beginning of a social autocracy whose tentacles can encircle our individuality so tightly that I will cease to be "ME." I think of the world in which I want to live and I come to the conclusion that these are the things that I want to have in my world. I want to be socially free. I want to be capable of personal achievement and success. I want the joy of possession. I want to be an individual.

I want to be socially free. By that I mean that I want to be able to do as I like without fear in doing so that I am a traitor to some great cause. I want to be able to paint my house green in a row of blue houses without feeling that I have disturbed some landscape artist's conception of a well-planned city. Maybe something in my mind hates blue houses, and I want a green house. But how can I be happy in a green house if I have disturbed some well-organized social scheme.

Then, I do not want to belong to such a well-organized social scheme. I like fireplaces. Perhaps someone else does not like fireplaces. I would like to own a bath-room with a fireplace in it. It is a luxury. It is not essential. The government might decree, perhaps, that I could not have a fireplace in my bath-room because there are not enough bricks in Canada to put fireplaces in all Canadian bath-rooms.

I do not want to belong to such a well-organized society. I want to own a summer home where there are blue waters and pine trees and quietness, far away from everybody. I do not want to have to spend my summer vacation in a government-owned summer camp with a million other people. I do not want to get my share of vitamin D in such a camp where everything is sterilized and boiled. I want to be free to drink the lake water. I want to even take the chance that I may die of typhoid.

I want to be capable of personal achievement and success. I want to be able to start from nothing and become something by the dint of my own endeavor and labor. I want to know that I have succeeded, that I did it with the wind in my face and up hill all the way. I do not want to thank some political demagogue who has given me a university education, without having to wash dishes for the necessary funds, just because I am one in a million people who go to make up an Elysian society. I want to look ahead to some achievement that I, alone, have to conquer economically, mentally and physically. I do not want to be met half-way in my endeavor by a government grant and I do not want some psychologist or vocational expert to tell me that I am going to succeed before I succeed or that I am going to fail before I fail.

King George officially celebrated his 48th birthday on June 8. His birthday is Dec. 14.

Robert H. Canning, 47, a guard at the Don Jail, was killed Saturday night when Allan Baldwin, 32, escaped from the jail. He was captured Sunday evening.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill visited Allied leaders at the Normandy beachhead this week.

The Russian armies have pushed northward to within 30 miles of Vilpuri, an important Finnish port.

German forces in Italy have put up a strong offensive at Bolsena, 60 miles from Rome.

Two industrial plants near Montreal were destroyed by fire, caused by an explosion.

The invasion front has been stretched to 90 miles. The Allied forces have a 700 square-mile foothold in France.

Lieut. H. L. B. Colquhoun of Newmarket returned from overseas last week on the Empress of Britain.

Home-grown strawberries will soon be in. Grocers and provision dealers are not now required to take out licenses from the Canada Food Board.

The Hotel company have their Kettleby, spent Sunday evening

I want to feel that I and I alone am the captain of my soul and the master of my fate. I want to learn to live in the valleys of depression as well as on the mountains of success. So take away your schemes of governmental grants for all the pitfalls that beset the average life. For if there are no hardships, there is no aftermath of joy of success. If there is no aim beyond my grasp, there is no heaven.

I want the joy of possession. I want to be able to stand with my toes buried in the warm sand of some lake-shore and look at my pine trees, my rocks, my soil, my land. I want to care for that property and beautify it and improve it because it is my own. I want to know that another who does not appreciate it, and who does not value it as I, will not come to enjoy it. I want to possess some luxurious article such as a streamlined car, or a beautiful yacht and I want to possess it because I have worked hard and strived for it. And I want it because Mr. Smith down the street has not got one. And I want to drive around some warm summer's day in my car or sail in my yacht and I want to watch Mr. Smith's envious eyes and I want to laugh with glee because I worked for my pleasure while he labored. I want to own my own business that will succeed on an economic standard because I have put my own private enterprise into it. Perhaps I envision a billboard with "ME AND COMPANY" written across it, signifying to the world that I am not a failure. Yes, I want to say of something "THIS IS MINE."

I want to be an individual. I want to be someone who lives freely, and thinks freely and talks freely. I do not want to be just one cog in a complicated, social machine. I do not want to have to conform to a uniform society by fascist discipline or any other type of force. I want to be capable of making my own decisions, of guiding my own life, being kind and unselfish because I want to be, being energetic because I want to be, being what I am because I am ME. For I would just as soon be No. 22227 in Sing-sing prison as an unidentified, equal, and impersonal component of an extremely well-organized society.

Perhaps there is something of the ancient Athenian in me, for I believe in the middle way and the moderate way. I do not want to live under an autocratic monarchy and I do not want to live under an extremely democratic democracy. I do not want to live in a class-conscious and caste-divided society but I do not want to live in a society without economic, mental and physical levels. I want to be free from the ancient bondage of despotic monarchs, the demands of the feudal lords, and the political-privileged electoral class, but also I want to be free from the bondage of over-organized society whose social unity may some day develop into an assumed dictatorship whose autocracy and absolutism would be greater and more unbearable than the reign of Louis XIV of France and the Czar Nicholas of Russia.

And so I am afraid that the zeal for increased reform, picked up and backed by well-meaning people will be carried to an extreme by unscrupulous politicians. Is it not out of such conditions of mob zeal and dissatisfaction that are born the strangling power of dictators? Did not Hitler pose as a man who would make the Germans as a master race? Did not Mussolini claim to rescue the Italians from the economic instability of a post-war Italy? Did not Lenin and Trotsky claim to institute a society for the greatest good to the greatest number of people? From these dictatorial rules have not arisen the blood-purges of Germany, the insane tortures of Bolsheviks, and the "shot-at-dawn" assassinations of the fascists? These are the things I fear, and out of the dark mummings of the historic past, comes the voice of experience demanding me to be politically cautious for fear that I may find myself on a road from which there is no turning back.

THE COMMON ROUND

By HARRY J. COLEMAN

ONE DAY

I suppose that six years ago it would have been hard to imagine that one day could hold as much suspense, fear, tragedy and pride as did the fateful day of Tuesday, June 6.

Wakened at dawn that morning by the sound of my husband's key in the door, I heard the door go on, not softly as usual at that hour, but blaring and then a voice called, "Come quickly. It's the invasion." I flew down to hear General Eisenhower speaking.

There was a strange unreality about that early vigil. Outside the birds were beginning their tuning up for their early morning hymns of praise, and it was hard to realize in the peace and beauty of the fair June morning that on a strip of beach in France men were with grim determination facing an implacable and desperate enemy.

What thoughts went through one's mind as a picture of the Spanish Armada sailing so proudly to conquer—and to destruction. Then a picture of that beach at Cherbourg and the sea and sky—the thousands of great ships and smaller attendant craft, the great cloud of ship battles, such a sight as the wildest imagination had never pictured.

I think we two stood there with a sick feeling of helplessness. Among these landing on that strip of ground were OUR boys—Canadian lads—maybe among them boys we had known all their lives—and we were here, safe and sheltered, because of their sacrifice.

I could only imagine, my husband could see all too well, for all battles have one thing in common—danger, acute and terrible.

It seems to me that if we are to be of any use in our men at the front and in all the brave souls who fight in the cause of freedom must use our imagination. The often we buy our books as we used to think the world did to shut out what we do not WANT to see. If we are going to do that we will become complacent and lost that now the invasion has started all MUST be well, the United Nations MUST go always forward. We all feel that "light is right" and we do know it. It is the only way with courage and the zeal of the crusader. But we also know that concerned animals will fight especially powerful animals, and we know that fear of the future will strengthen an already powerful foe; and that, though the zeal and loyalty of the crusader will outlast that of the evil foe, yet, no crusade was ever won easily.

One heartening and to me, wonderful thing about the opening of the offensive was the attitude of the heads of those countries whose men are bearing the brunt of it. Our King, the president and all leaders asked for the prayers of their people.

Behind our fighting men and like a cover of angel wings above and about them went up humble prayers for help from every heart in the countries girding themselves for the titanic struggle.

In the first world war the Germans set "Der Tag," but now the liberators have set the day and with prayers, hopes and work of the Allied nations behind them they move forward to quench forever the powers of evil and to give a God-fearing people answer to those "who put their trust in reeking tube and iron shard."

SOMETHING NEW ADDS ZEST TO GARDENING

(By Rudy Renzius, Newmarket Horticultural Society)

Trying one or more completely new and unfamiliar plants each year adds zest to gardening. Many times this new item ends up on the never-try-again list, or it may prove to be a very fine thing like, for instance, double white rock cress (Arabis Alpina), perennial or Indian spring hollyhock. This is an annual that flowers in August. You sow the seeds in the spring. Its tall stalks of semi-double pink flowers are a lovely picture in the summer garden.

Another year you may buy one of the many new pinks or ground phloxes, so useful for covering bare spots or in rockeries. One of my favorites is Vinca minor, periwinkle or ground myrtle. Its beautiful blue blossoms are a pleasure several times during the growing season. The seed catalogues are, of course, your main source of possibilities to be tried.

Angel's trumpet is a well chosen name for a large annual with trumpet formed flowers of many colors, yellow, white and purple. It is not unlike the Easter lily in shape and size. This plant is easy to grow and not very common. It is very effective in many places in early evening in contrast with a background of dark evergreens. It grows three feet tall and, if given lots of room, will fill this. It usually blooms from the middle of July to frost. Give it a rich soil and it will self-sow. The Latin name is Datura Stramonium, sometimes called thornapple. Lunaria Annuus, honesty, is a very interesting annual or biennial with a two-fold use.

First we have the purple flowers in the garden and then we may collect and dry the unusual seed-pods for decorative use in the house during the winter. The seed-pods are silvery-white, flat and the seeds may be seen through thin transparent skin. It likes loose, sandy and moist soil.

BEAUTIFUL NEWMARKET

By HARRY J. COLEMAN

There again I am taking time out from all the other duties that these few days have added to mine already very busy days. I have just been to the beautiful Newmarket gardens. This is a particularly beautiful time for the garden. The shrubs and all the trees have all been in their new spring beauty and the earth is filled with the glory of the "Lark."

Garden has been very popular and a few weeks ago the Ladies' Aid of St. Paul's Anglican Church held one of their regular garden parties in the park. The garden was in the best of the season, at the time, and the beauty of the scene was a beautiful array of color and perfume.

The tea-table, set on the second terrace, presented a charming appearance with its array of dainty china cups and saucers and the silver of the two tea services at either end, and the bowls of flowers adorning the table.

Everyone was loath to leave such pleasant surroundings and nature was most kind, for there had been a slight shower about one o'clock which set us wondering, but it all cleared away in time for the tea—and the party was all over when a second very severe thunderstorm deluged the lovely garden about 6.30.

Mr. and Mrs. Belugin certainly have reason to be proud of their garden, for it is a delight both summer and winter since the view from the south windows of their sun-parlor is pleasing to the eye all year with its rose trellis and flagged walk and arbor, and with the winter snow lying deep and white over it, one can still enjoy it.

Then at the extreme south end of the town is another wonderful garden—this one noted more for its glorious trees. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Streeter, just south of Pickering college. From early spring to late autumn there are flowers, but it is the grassy lawns and beautiful trees and shrubs that to my mind constitute its chief attraction.

Tall old trees, beautifully shaped and cared for, wonderful evergreens bordering the different parts of the estate. Then the orchard, with the small fruits at the side. I saw two small, healthy-looking apricot trees that Mr. Streeter has lately started that showed promise of good results.

Then a row of highbush cranberries, if I am not mistaken, all in full bloom, with a wonderful fragrance that attracted hundreds of bees.

The whole place is alive with birds of every sort—and I assure you it was a grand spot to wander round on a June Sunday. Oh yes, indeed, Newmarket is a lovely spot and our gardens can compare with those anywhere else for beauty.

PAPER NEED GREAT, SCOUTS TELL PUBLIC

"Collection of waste paper is still before the public required for the purpose of paper is needed," W. A. Spent, secretary, Newmarket Boy Scouts Association, said this week.

"Large savings collection has been made for the purpose of paper is needed. All householders are asked to include all kinds of waste paper and have it ready for the collection on June 24.

"Not only that, the monthly collection of waste paper is increased but it must be made.

tained in order to build up reserves at the mills.

"Householders are requested to save waste paper systematically for these periodic collections, which will be continued so long as the emergency exists.

"For convenience in handling, newspaper should be tied tightly in bundles and all other loose papers packed in corrugated boxes and securely tied.

"Boy Scouts and Cubs will be around with string and containers on the morning of Saturday, June 24."

Have your waste paper on the veranda or boulevard ready for the scouts.

If your livestock could talk—they'd be asking you for fresh feed! They don't relish stale feed any more than you do. So why give it to them? Make absolutely sure the feed you give them is fresh by getting it from your nearby SHUR-GAIN FEED SERVICE MILL.

WHY ARE SHUR-GAIN FEEDS FRESH?

They are manufactured at frequent intervals—only as needed. There is no storage, resulting in stale feeds. And this fact is very important because feeds lose feeding value when they become stale through storage.

DOES IT COST MORE FOR THIS FRESHNESS?

BOYS LOOK FORWARD TO COMING BACK HOME

"I wish to thank you very much for the cigarettes which I received a few days ago," writes Pte. D. T. Clarkson to the Newmarket Veterans' Soldiers' Comforts fund. "I was certainly glad to get them as it was the first parcel of cigarettes I have received since I left England about three months ago."

"I have met several Newmarket boys since I've been in Italy and they don't like this country any more than I do. We're all looking forward to the day when this thing is all over so we can return to good old Newmarket."

"We had just come out of the lines and your cigarettes were waiting for me," writes Sgt. Bruce Andrews. "Your organization is doing splendid work in sending the boys smokes. All the boys whom I have met from town are receiving them also."

"I bumped into Capt. Cook from town for the first time. Just last night I met Harold Cook and Shorty (Roy) Farren. It is good to meet the boys from town. Sorry to hear of the passing of your hard-working comrade, Bill White."

"Everything is much the same over here in Italy as yet," writes LAC Bill Douglas. "The weather is lovely today but it varies quite a lot."

Cards have been received by the Veterans from Tpr. A. M. Ferguson and Rfn. G. F. ("Buck") MacArthur.

SWIMMING-POOL IS PEACE SUGGESTION

"I wish to express to you and all the members of the Lions club my sincere thanks for the 300 cigarettes I received this week," writes Sgt. S. G. Dow to the Newmarket Lions club. "They are certainly appreciated."

"My address has been changed again, so it took a while for them to catch up with me. I have been transferred from the workshop to a pipe band and am now unit armorer for the Canadian Grenadier Guards and am glad to say I am getting along fine. I receive the Newmarket paper quite regularly, so am able to keep fairly well up on the town news."

"Sorry to hear of the death of one of your active workers, Wm. White, who will be missed by both yours and the Veterans' Association," writes Pte. Wm. A. Watt to the Lions club.

"Just a very short note to thank you for the 300 cigarettes which I received yesterday," writes L. Cpl. Claster Graves.

"They were mailed in Montreal on March 31, so you can see they arrived promptly (May 5). How we boys do appreciate Canadian cigarettes. English cigarettes are so expensive, when you can get them, and of a very inferior quality, so we really appreciate ones from home."

"The weather has been lovely for some time over here but yesterday had quite a fall of rain, just about like a cloud-burst, but it is clearing up again tonight. We are having a pretty fair time over here and our mail has been coming from home quite well."

"To endeavor to express my sincere gratitude for your much-appreciated gift of 300 cigarettes, which I received last Saturday is a hopeless task," writes LAC L. R. Willis to the Lions club. "However, it gives me great pleasure to tell you how proud I am to say nothing of the thousands of other boys of our home front."

"It is also a pleasure to be able to tell you that after a considerable delay, the copies of The Era and Express which you so generously send each week are starting to come through. I understand that many of the lads are not getting theirs at all. It has taken some time for my mail to straighten itself out but now I have no complaints whatever."

"You will never know what a pleasure it is to sit down and read of the activities of the people we lived amongst and also the doings of some of our chums in the services. Newmarket has a grand record of achievement in all phases of this war to date and I am proud of my association with the town."

"On Saturday last, I returned from a two-week detachment on another station. While I was away I managed to visit the city of Belfast. Unfortunately, I wasn't fortunate enough to see any of the historical sights, but I did give the place a good once over. Of course you know that the population of the British Isles is far in excess of its acreage, so you can imagine what most of the cities are like for crowds with the added influx of service personnel from all the Allied nations."

"County Antrim, in which the city of Belfast is located, is really a very lovely piece of country. It is truly indicative of the green for which the Emerald Isle is famous and add to that the hundreds of small lakes and you have a truly magnificent piece of landscape. Of course it would have to go a long way to compete with our own Muskoka district but I must confess it is beautiful."

"On a station of the type I am with one is inclined to become fed up at times, as we really can't see the value of our work, but it must be of some importance or it would not be here. So far I have managed to find enough to do to keep me occupied. We do get a great deal of good entertainment and there are all sorts of sports available to those interested. At the moment hardball and soccer are in full swing."

"You will be approaching the climax to Canada's sixth Victory loan just now. We have no doubt over here about whether it will go over the top. Our one hope and prayer is that we won't need another before this job is done. The news is most encouraging at the moment and our enemy is truly getting all he asked for. The bitter part of it all is that a lot of innocent people are suffering for the greed of so few and yet the only way to do the job right is a complete and unhesitant victory."

"Just an idea for after the war," writes Pte. Ang. West to the Lions club on a postcard picturing a Scottish bathing pool.

"The activities of the Lions club are given pretty well in the Era and Express, so I'm able to keep posted a little bit," writes P.O. Geo. Phimister to the Lions club.

"I haven't been in the army very long, but long enough to discover that we spend about 90 percent of our time waiting for things to happen and cigarettes are almost a necessity with so much time to put in," writes Gnr. Ken. Johns to the Lions club. "So keep up the good work, as every parcel reminds us of our many friends back home and makes us all the more anxious to get this affair over and see you all again."

"I thank you a million times for the gift, as I know of the wonderful work the Lions club is doing around the town of Newmarket," writes Pte. L. J. Rowland. "I hope you will be able to continue in the future."

"These and many other things are very scarce on this island but thanks to you good people back in Newmarket I never go short," writes Squadron-Leader Gordon Ough.

"I was getting rather short of Canadian smokes, so they couldn't have arrived at a better time," writes Tpr. Arthur Sheridan.

"Many thanks for all the Lions are doing for the boys over here. "Thanks many times for the smokes I have just received from the Lions club," writes Pte. Doug. Bennitz. "They are a very good time, as I have been out of smokes for quite some time and they taste good after smoking English cigarettes. We are having real spring weather now, and it has been good for quite some time. It starts quite a bit earlier here

NO SUNDAY DANCING AT WILCOX, IS RULING

The signal for a tax sale in Whitechurch township was flying on Saturday when the council in session at Vandorf passed the preliminary by-law authorizing the sale and calling upon the treasurer to submit a list of all unpaid taxes.

Other by-laws passed at the meeting, presided over by Reeve George Leary, gave full police status to the newly appointed constables, J. Foote and Elmer Wells. They are now empowered to make seizures under the Liquor Control Act as well as to perform normal police duties.

Tenders were opened at this meeting for handling garbage at Wilcox and Musselman's Lakes. Percy Ash was again awarded the contract for Wilcox Lake at $300 per year. He was the only tenderer.

Two persons tendered for Musselman's, the successful one being Ed. McNally, farmer resident at the lake. His price was $250.

Each contractor is required to supply a suitable conveyance. Persons who have their garbage lifted are required to place it in suitable containers. They must be of a size one man can lift to a wagon or truck.

In anticipation of the farmers being offered commando help this summer, the council formed itself into a committee, with the reeve as chairman, so that they can spot out those in need of extra help, and be prepared to direct workers when they present themselves.

Galger's dance hall at Wilcox Lake is in for some consideration when a representative of the proprietors addressed the council about Sunday roller-skating. He urged that the council give him an assurance they would not insist on action being taken in case the place is operated on Sundays, implying that if the council did not stir up opposition everything would run smoothly.

However, no such assurance was forthcoming, although members said the matter would be one for the county police to deal with. A communication on the subject was on file from the county police department, stating that the place would not be opened on Sundays for skating and dancing, and would confine itself to selling refreshments only.

Relief costs continue to run at a low figure, accounts totalling

IT'S THE ECONOMY ENGINE

RIGHT ON THE HEELS of our advancing troops a cable-laying truck speeds up the road, spewing out telephone cable as it goes. At a cross-roads the operators leap out and erect poles to carry the cable, or bury it for safety beneath the roadway. Soon the network of communications is bringing in reports and carrying orders to the various army units.

A storm strikes in Canada, telephone poles crash to the ground, and vital threads of communication are broken. But in a few minutes a service truck is at the scene of the damage, wires are connected up and vital messages of a nation at war are again speeding from city to city or across a continent.

A very large percentage of the trucks which serve the Allied Nations here in Canada and on the far-flung battlefronts are rugged, dependable Ford Trucks. The power plant which drives these trucks is the Ford V-8 Engine. This amazing piece of Ford engineering has been developed, improved, perfected through the years, and today it is setting new records of trouble-free performance. Above all it's the economy engine, easy on oil, and extremely saving of precious gasoline.

There is time to plant that Victory garden yet if you have a leaning that way. It is interesting to note that in the U.S.A., where they collected some figures on the 1943 season, 43 percent of all fresh produce, in all 8,000,000 tons, was produced in these plots. Quite a fine record.

If you are late and want to catch up, don't fall prey to sloppiness. It is just as easy to set a line in place for straight furrows and this will save you time later when you have to cultivate and hoe. It also makes a finer looking vegetable plot. Take time to cover seeds properly and sow them at proper depth.

If pressed down they come in contact with warm soil and moisture and get growing sooner. The extra time you take at planting time is saved later when thinning-out time comes. It is very important to sow thinly and not in bunches.

Fine seeds are sown thinly if mixed in a saucer with fine sand and trickled between thumb and forefinger. Set out larger seeds like beets one inch apart. Beans and peas should be sown two inches apart. This will give you plenty of seedlings and the waste and time in thinning will be smaller.

One of the most common mistakes is not to allow enough room for the growth of each plant. Thin after a rain when it is easy to pull cut seedlings and nearby plant roots are not damaged.

If you are not in a hurry to get your annuals, there is still time to plant seeds of petunias and other favorite flowers. They will bloom late in the summer and may come in handy when other blooms are over. We plant annual seeds all summer between established perennial clumps, whenever hoeing.

There might be quite a few casualties, but there are always some seeds that pay interest and grow into nice plants. As most seeds are collected from our own plants or are gifts from friends, the cost is small.

Says Labor in N. Z. Gives Farm Security

"The C.C.F. is democratically organized," Major A. H. Woods, C.C.F. federal candidate in North York, told a gathering in Belhaven Community hall.

After explaining C.C.F. organization, Major Woods contended that "a party that conducts its internal affairs along democratic lines will carry those principles into the task of governing the country."

"The C.C.F. is charged by its opponents with being undemocratic because they know it is useless to assail the C.C.F. program," said Major Woods. "They hope to scare the voters by raising the bogey of regimentation. Under a C.C.F. government there would be more democracy, not less."

"A C.C.F. government would not permit citizens to be interned or imprisoned without an open trial. To do as the present administration has done is to violate the fundamental principles of British justice and fair play. I agree that people who break the law or who threaten the safety of the state should be punished, but only when found guilty in a court of justice."

"The New Zealand labor government's farm produce marketing system has given the New Zealand farmer a security unknown in any other country. The policy of the New Zealand government and that of the C.C.F. are practically identical, and what has been done for the farmer in New Zealand will be done for the farmer in Canada by a C.C.F. government."

"It is not true that members of trade unions are compelled to contribute to C.C.F. funds against their wills," said Major Woods. "Some unions have affiliated with the C.C.F. for their entire membership and some for only a part of the membership. The affiliated unions contribute to the C.C.F. on that basis, a small fee for each affiliated member."

"In the York South by-election only $5,000 was spent by the C.C.F. to defeat ex-Senator Arthur Meighen, a candidate backed by all the resources of the vested interests. Some of the $5,000 came from the unions but most of it came from the members of the C.C.F. across Canada, contributions of quarters and one dollar bills with an occasional contribution of $25."

Major Woods prophesied that the C.C.F. would form a government in Saskatchewan after the June 15 election and a dominion administration after the next federal election.

George H. Mitchell, M.P.P. for North York, discussed legislation dealt with at the recent session of the Ontario legislature.

TO THE EDITOR

Editor, The Era and Express: I am long overdue in writing to thank you for The Era and Express which arrives quite regularly now. I enjoy the news regardless of how old the issue may be and also the letters of other service chaps who are now scattered in many parts of the war zones.

Would like to thank the Veterans' Association and the Lions club through your paper for smokes received and am sure the other lads from town enjoy these gifts from the various organizations at home. At present we are with the first division and have been supporting tank movements and knocking away at the odd pill-box. It's been hard to contact Jerry the past few days as they have pulled out fast in this Pontcarvo area. However, there will be some tough going yet on this front.

The Canadians are doing a fine job on the centre front and we have the armored vehicles and supplies to keep up the pressure. We have had new potatoes, onions and lettuce from local gardens and they are a treat from the M. and V. and everlasting bully beef.

The weather is typical of July and everyone has a good tan and occasionally gets in for a swim and they are indeed a treat. Have not seen any chaps from town as yet but no doubt I shall as there are many Canadian units in this section.

I have crossed the country four times and have been in most of the cities and enjoyed Pompeii and the ruins, also Naples, but it is difficult to get around there as transportation is at a standstill for civilians and personnel on leave.

Again thanking you and the local clubs for the welcome gifts, I remain,

Yours gratefully,
Harold Belfry.

HYDRO Lightens The Way!

Electricity is essential to commerce!

Imagine, if you can, a towering skyscraper without electricity. It would be a dark, lifeless block of stone, steel and concrete... lifeless, unserviceable.

It is Hydro that puts life into skyscrapers, warehouses and factories, or any other building. For electricity transforms darkness into light... moves elevators swiftly and silently... performs the hundred tasks that bestow upon a building the throbbing pulse of life.

Hidden in the walls of tall buildings are hundreds of miles of wiring... a veritable network, travelling from a master switchboard to wherever light and power are needed. Busy telephones... chattering teletype equipment... business machines, and other mechanical, time-saving devices that serve the many needs of commerce... are powered by electricity.

In Ontario... in business and home... in industry and on the farm... Hydro lightens the way. It powers the machines that produce the goods we need... it brings us entertainment... it makes our work-day easier, our life more comfortable.

Plan for better living and more leisure after Victory, by taking full advantage of the benefits that can be yours through the use of electricity.

men's canteen for our schedule.
And now a few words about some of the people who are responsible for the victory. The defence of Lowens in goal and Dixon and Cody at full-back, carried on the great form shown the previous week and the writer is pulling for a shut-out next time we play. So keep it up, boys!
"The halfback line played its usual steady game, but it was up front in the forward line that the big improvement was shown.
"They played more as a unit than at any time this year, and they even showed some smart passing plays. A word must be said for little Tpr. Proulx, who is new in the camp. Besides being a good soldier on parade all day he comes out at night and gives us everything he has. Keep it up, lad! We're looking for goals from you, too.
"And now I would like to thank Major Adams, our 2 i/c, for arranging and our cooks for preparing such a fine supper for our own team and our visitors, too."
The Rhythmacades gave us their 106th show under the direction of Mr. Hamilton, their manager, accompanist and talkative M.C. We'll allow him quite a bit of time to talk for he has made a fine unit out of this lovely group of young ladies and young men. He does fine work at the piano and we felt sorry for him and for the cast that they had to endure the heat of last Tuesday.
We were a little long in starting but that was not the Rhythmacades' fault. We had so much on and wanted as many as possible to enjoy as much as they could in one evening. But we do thank the show people for their patience in waiting for their audience and we hope that our applause rewarded them for their efforts on our behalf.
A favorite with the boys was Dorothy Prescott and her accordion. She plays nicely and there is something about an accordion that soldiers like. A highlight of the evening, in the opinion of the writer, was the performance of the two Margas, Margaret Williams and Margaret Warner. Their "When Pa was counting Ma" was lots of fun and highly enjoyed. It was good wine left until last.
The chorus numbers by the whole group were well done and harmonized pleasantly. The Rhythmettes, Betty Archibald, Marion Stevenson and D. J. Henderson, gave us some fine Scotch dance numbers. Miss Henderson also did a fine tap solo number and Betty was seen in the Mexican group number and danced nicely. This Mexican number was well done.
McNicol put on a burlesque ballet number and pleased the audience and then later in the program stole Jimmy Good's stuff by giving that man's sermon. The Vagabonds, consisting of the boys, got off to a poor start but finished up nicely. Miss D. Copeland sang some lovely songs. Marion Stevenson put on a fine display of acrobatic dancing. She is clever indeed. All in all it was a fine show.
It seems that "D" squadron has been setting themselves up as a marriage bureau, judging from results published in recent orders. Of five weddings which we report this week, four of the happy bridegrooms are from "D" squadron.
On May 20 Cpl. G. W. Cousineau married Miss Veronica Mary Belbeck at Barrie, Ont.
May 27 witnessed two weddings from the camp. Tpr. Edward P. Carey was married in Toronto to Miss Dorothy Lambton Little. And on the same day Tpr. James H. Grice, who had travelled all the way to Kenmore, New York, was married to Miss Lucille Nelson Knibbe.
The fourth "D" squadron bridegroom was Tpr. Einar Bjorkman, who was married on May 30 to Miss Margaret Patricia Nosworthy at Barrie. The padre happens to know a little more about this wedding for he performed the ceremony. The happy couple were supported by John Holmes of Utopia and Miss Elsie Tracy. The wedding breakfast was served at the home of Mrs. Guest, sister of

THEY'LL DANCE IN "COVER GIRL"

Phil Silvers, Rita Hayworth and Gene Kelly dance joyfully to Jerome Kern's hit melody, "Make Way For Tomorrow," in the closing moments of the technicolor musical, "Cover Girl," which plays at the Strand theatre on Monday and Tuesday. Featured in the large and brilliant cast are 15 cover girls, chosen by a number of magazines as their ideals of beauty.

The most recent wedding among camp personnel took place on Saturday, June 3, at Orillia. This was solemnized between Sgt. Langston E. Durnford and Miss Phyllis Virginia Woodman. The ceremony took place in the Presbyterian church. Rev. Mr. McInnis officiating. The bride was supported by her sister, Marilyn Woodman, and the groomsmen was L-Cpl. M. A. Yates.
A reception was held on the lawn of the Grey House, Atherley. The wedding breakfast was of the most delightful and substantial nature. Following the reception the happy couple left for their honeymoon at North Bay.
Among the guests from the camp were Capt. Geo. Patton, acting O.C. of "A" squadron, Lieut. Mrs. Barrow, Cpl. Brown and L-Cpl. Owen. It was a happy way for the sergeant to celebrate his promotion. We congratulate all these happy couples and wish them much happiness.
Recent orders show the promotion of the following whom we congratulate. Now acting sergeants are J. H. Doherty, Langston E. Durnford, V. O. Rankin, J. S. Scott, Robert Casement and Frederick Barker. Promoted to the rank of acting lieutenant are Richard Bell and Robert Urquhart. Herbert Merry of the quarter stores is now an acting corporal.
Trade tests were tried by several in camp recently and all passed. More spending money is how the writer thought of it, but two of those who passed the test said that it was more money to save. There's no doubt about it. Freddy White's work on behalf of the Victory bond sales is not in vain. It gets into your blood after a while.
Thursday night the girls played the "osifiers." The writer was not able to witness this game so he did the next best thing—he consulted with one who played in it with the following result. The interview with Capt. D. J. Hynes went somewhat this way:
Camp editor: "Tell me something about that game."
Capt. Hynes: "It was between the officers and the C.W.A.C. The girls challenged us. The girls started out with high hopes and ambitions but after due course they began to find that even officers, who have done nothing more active than pushing a pen around for three years, are still able to put the C.W.A.C. to rout.
"By the end of the third innings the girls' faces were equal in length to the star performers at the Woodbine, and they had no further stomach for the game. With a transfusion from the opposition, which provided them with a pitcher (Capt. D. J. Hynes—Ed.) and a first baseman (Lieut. Bert Shaw), they picked up considerably and were able to put up some semblance of a game for a few more innings.

"Star performers for the C.W.A.C. were Tiny Kimber, who fears neither man nor beast nor fast balls, behind the bat, and Siren Zaroteki, whose powers of attraction regularly lured the ball to its doom in her mitt. Outfielder Petie Patson had apparently caught flies before and turned in about a 3 game. No other outfielder paid any particular attention to balls coming their way. Daley at second proved a veritable sieve. Russell looked very fetching on third.
"Eaten (fr.) also looks well in slacks. Oh yes, and don't forget the other girls. Say some nice things about them. There were Ivy Jubb, Heron, the pitcher, Mary McKirwin, Stewart, Cowan, etc.
"Oser could let more balls through than Daley did. Robinson fields and bats as if he were on the playing fields of Eton, but exhibits some learning ability. Paisley, Shax, Kennedy, Barrow and Bacon were the only ones who seem to have played the game before. Richardson, behind the bat really didn't need his alibi of 'spectacles and mask interfering with his vision,' but it may prove useful in the future.
"Score, either 17-14 or 14-17, according to the official scorer. Result, complete deflation of the C.W.A.C."
But that's a funny thing. The girls went home and thought they won, in fact they were so bolstered over their victory some seemed to have got into trouble over it. It all depends on how you look at the score. The motto the girls go by is: "Always look on the bright side of life." And maybe they have another motto too that has value in more strenuous circumstances: "Never acknowledge defeat. That is failure."
We neglected to tell you the reason why the girls thought they could beat the officers was the bad licking that troop 13 gave the officers Wednesday night. The troopers really put it over on their seniors that night.
A pass-weakened unit softball team travelled to Mount Albert on Saturday and engaged their opponents in a sudden-death game of five innings. They came out the losers with a score of three against their two. They played Richmond Hill, whose pitcher played a fine game indeed. His rising ball fooled a lot of our boys, whose disgusted remark, "I fanned," showed how they despised themselves for his good pitching.
Our own Lefty played a good game on the mound and Avison seemed the outstanding player on our side securing two hits, being brought in on one of them. Lieut. Bob Kennedy travelled with the team, accompanied by Frank Courtney, the camp's sport fan, and the padre. It was disappointing that the lads had no further opportunity to show what they could do, but they all consoled themselves over the fact that it was a good practice for them anyway.
And now to finish this week's news of sports and weddings, here is Mary McK. with her C.W.A.C. flashes.
"Pte. Marion Uplike is now Mrs. Donald Cottingham.
"The morning of June 1 didn't look as if it were going to be a nice day for a wedding. It was very dull and it had rained the previous evening. However, inwards 1200 hours things looked brighter and it cleared up and was a lovely June day. Everyone was rushing around so much after lunch you would honestly believe they were being married instead of Marion.
"Reason for all this rushing around was preparing for the reception, wrapping and tying of wedding gifts, pressing uniforms, etc., and not to mention that some of the girls who attended worked right up until 2.55 and the wedding was to be at 3. We were lucky as the wedding did not begin until 3.30 and that gave us the time to get downtown to the church. We were perspiring by the time we got there and the church, being warm, did not help our comfort. As we entered the church the organ was playing softly, the air was scented with sweet scented oranges and perfumes and we soon forgot our discomfort.
"The front row held the future mother-in-law, Mrs. Cottingham, Sr., who was in the uniform of the C.W.A.C. and is stationed at Hamilton, and two sisters. One of the two sisters is also in the C.W.A.C.

We hear there is a wedding soon for her.

"The five rows behind were filled with friends and C.W.A.C.'s from the camp.

"It was a beautiful ceremony. Rev. H. Cotton officiated, assisted by Capt. R. P. D. Hicks, our camp padre. The bride was given away by Lieut. Fred. White. Marion's matron of honor was May Livingstone and the groom was supported by Lieut. Livingstone. As the bridal party went into the vestry for the signing of the register, Capt. Pete Kerr of the Salvation Army auxiliary services sang O Promise Me.

"Shortly after the song the bride and groom came out of the vestry and walked up the aisle and out into the street where they were showered with confetti. Everybody was happy. We all think a great deal of Marion up here at No. 23 and we all want to give her our congratulations for her future happiness.

"The girls left the bride and groom and ventured back to the recreation room where the reception was being held. The tables looked beautiful, piled high with presents, flowers and food.

"Cpl. Merry took pictures of the bride and groom, accompanied by Lieut. Livingstone and Mrs. Livingstone, and the guard of honor, the C.W.A.C.

"Cpl. Young extended his best wishes to Lieut. and Mrs. Cottingham and wished them great happiness. The rest of the day was spent by Marion receiving congratulations and presents. Later in the evening the bride and groom left on their honeymoon.
"Personal to Lieut. F. White: There goes your No. 1 petal!"

"Cover Girl" Offered As Prize To Puzzlers

Last week's contest was a little more difficult and only 24 sent in correct answers. Marion Rose, Francis Elphinstone, 7 D'Arcy St., Mrs. Chas. Brice, 19 Queen St. E., Mrs. F. Carley, 6 Ontario St. W., and Mrs. Ted Baile, 28 Gorham St., all of Newmarket, had the greatest number of credits this week. Non-winning correct answers have been given credits.

"Cover Girl," starring Rita Hayworth and Gene Kelly, and "Escape to Danger," are on the program at the Strand theatre on Tuesday, June 20. "Corvette K-225," starring Randolph Scott, "Crime School," starring Humphrey Bogart, and the "Dead End Kids" are on the Strand program for Thursday, June 22. The five winners of this week's contest have their choice of either program and may pick up their passes any evening at the Strand theatre.

The correct answers were: procurable, medicine, resort, preserving, references, beautifully, chauffeurs, records, telescopic, wardrobe.

ASK GAS FOR SOLDIERS

No action was taken by Newmarket town council on Monday evening on a letter from Saul Ste. Marie council asking Newmarket to pass a resolution asking for special gasoline coupons for the armed forces home on leave.

A VERY GOOD REASON

An irate travelling man asked a good-natured Maryland taxi driver the other evening, "Why was the Burlington depot built a mile from the business section of the town?"

"I don't know for sure," replied the driver, "but I've lived here a long time, and I have always been told it was in order to have the depot close to the railroad."

WILL MAKE HOME AT MOUNT ALBERT

Baskets of spring flowers and a double candelabra formed a pretty setting before the fireplace at the home of the bride's parents on Saturday, June 3, when Auldine Grace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith, Uxbridge, became the bride of Melville Stanley Oldham, son of Mrs. Stanley Oldham, Mount Albert, and the late Mr. Oldham. Rev. L. E. Atkinson officiated, assisted by Rev. W. H. Burgess, Mount Albert. Mrs. Walter Carruthers played the wedding music and during the signing of the register Mrs. Jim Oldham sang "O Perfect Love". The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked charming in heavy white satin, fashioned on long torso lines and falling into a slight train. A sweet-heart halo crested her fingertip veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and baby's breath. She wore a gold locket, the gift of the groom.

Miss Jean Smith, as her sister's maid of honor, and Miss Mary Smith, as bridesmaid, were gowned alike in her blue crepe, with half-hats of matching flowers veiled to the shoulders. They carried pink roses.

Grant Oldham, cousin of the groom, was best man.

At the reception, the bride's mother received in a gown of British navy sheer with navy accessories and a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother assisted and wore a navy printed crepe dress with navy accessories and a corsage of red roses.

For travelling to Muskoka, the bride donned a lime green suit with beige top coat and brown accessories and a corsage of Talsman roses. On their return the couple will reside on the groom's farm in Mount Albert.

PETER WHITE WRITES OF VISIT TO WEST INDIES

Mrs. Wm. White, Newmarket, has received an interesting letter from her stepson, Peter White, who is with the Norwegian merchant marine.

"I intended to write sooner but I decided to wait till after we left Puerto Rico," he writes. "We were in San Juan for three days. The people are very nice to you down there and I really enjoyed myself. We were one day sailing from Puerto Rico to the Dominican republic. This is my second day here.

"It is lovely down here, with all the beaches and palm trees, truly just as nice as they say it is and even better. The only trouble though is that I don't like the heat so much. It took us ten days in convoy to come to P.R. from New York. We had a bit of rough weather and I was sea-sick for three days.

"I will not receive any mail until we get back to the States. I got some souvenirs in Puerto Rico."

Peter says he expects to go to England to see his brothers, Jim and David White, in the army, and then go to Montreal and thus home. His address is: Peter White, c/o M.V. Danio, Norwegian Shipping and Trade Mission, 80 Broad St., New York 4, U.S.A.

CANADIAN ARMY WILL NEED BLOOD SERUM

(By Lenora Starr, Newmarket Red Cross)

If you were to visit one of the military hospitals across the country and talk to some of the men recently returned from "somewhere north of Naples," you would soon find out if you are your brother's keeper.

Every week 20,000 Canadians give their blood that their brothers, husbands and fathers may live. That's a splendid record of which most Canadians can be proud, but now that the whole Canadian army is going into action that blood serum may be barely sufficient to care for the wounded.

Now no one wants a Canadian boy to die because there was no blood to give him the necessary transfusions. Nor would anybody like to think of a soldier of the United Nations dying on the European battlefield because a person at home had not seen his duty to give a pint of blood. Yes, a pint of blood can be the difference between life and death, providing, of course, that it is where it is needed most—in the field hospital behind the lines.

You are your brother's keeper, that is, if you share your blood with him through the medium of the Red Cross blood donor service.

RED CROSS DOES JOB, WRITES WOUNDED BOY

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Patterson, Newmarket, have received a letter from their son, Spr. Aubrey Patterson, who has been wounded in action.

"I guess you'll be worried not hearing from me in this long time," he writes. "I got wounded on the 29th of May. I hit two teller mines with my jeep as I was making a recon for the tanks. My officer wasn't with me at the time, only Cpl. Haig, the radio operator. He was killed. Myself I was very lucky. Only had a little piece in my head and arm, the rest was internal injury but I'm getting along grand now.

"It's really a pleasure to be out of the war for a while and have a good rest. I'm still in bed but they sure treat the boys grand here in the hospital. We don't need anything.

"The Red Cross is doing a grand job too."

Spr. Patterson's address is B92766, Spr. A. N. Patterson, 14th Canadian General Hospital, C.A., C.M.F.

NEWMARKET HAS 60 OUTDOOR TOILETS

Chief Constable James Sloss appeared before Newmarket town council on Monday evening with regard to the outside toilet "nuisance."

"The board of health has the right to have it ordered done and charge it to the taxes," N. L. Mathews, K.C., town clerk and solicitor, said in reply to a question from Chief Sloss, who asked if it were possible to force people to put in inside conveniences and do away with the outside ones that are a nuisance.

"One difficulty is that there are no sewers," said Mr. Mathews.

"Then it is up to them to arrange some other method," said Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales.

"It is practically impossible to get materials and help," said Reeve F. A. Lundy. Mr. Lundy stated that there were a number of citizens who had the materials but who could not get a plumber to install them.

"I think they're doing their best," said Mr. Lundy.

"It is not impossible," said Mayor Dales. "They're getting some done, how many are there?"

"About 60," replied Chief Sloss.

"Some are worse than others," said Mr. Mathews.

"I made a survey and put in a report to Dr. Wesley," said Chief Sloss. "It has been referred back to me to force them to put in toilets. I think it's up to the M.O.H."

The councillors thought that it was up to the M.O.H. to order that the work be done and up to the chief constable to lay a charge if it is not done.

Dr. J. H. Wesley, M.O.H., arrived at this point.

"The council doesn't want to finance the installations," said Mayor Dales.

"Then we can't go any farther," said Dr. Wesley. "What about the Health Act? Several have asked that the town do it and they are willing that it be charged against the property on taxes."

"The town does not want to finance them," said Mr. Mathews. "We don't want to do it that way."

"There are one or two cases where the owner is not in a position to do it," said Mr. Sloss.

"I think you might accept the progress that has been made," said Mr. Lundy. "Citizens are doing everything they can."

KING CITY King School Children Ask Milk For Britain

A tag day will be held in King township on Saturday in co-operation with the Kinsmen clubs of Toronto in raising money for the "Bombs and Bombs" fund. The teachers and pupils of the various schools throughout the township are again assisting in this effort.

Last year the schools of Strange, Kinghorn, King City, Eversley and Temperanceville held a tag day for this purpose and raised over $30. The Kinsmen clubs sent certificates to each of the schools in grateful appreciation of their effort.

"Bombs and Bombs" is a fund for the purchase of food for Britain. In a recent address said that the milk situation had become so acute that commencing June 15 the milk ration per person would be reduced.

"Milk is absolutely essential for the health of children," say the tag day sponsors. "Let us see that the kiddies of Britain are kept in as fit a condition as possible."

"Bombs and Bombs" will destroy Hitler's young. We must put milk into our children," said Prime Minister Churchill. The Kinsmen Fund for British children has been Canada's response to Mr. Churchill and our answer to Hitler's threats. Since September, 1941, over 13,000,000 quarts of milk in powdered form have been collected to be sent and distributed to children in hospitals, nurseries, orphanages and in bombed areas where emergency supplies were sorely needed.

"The first shipment of 78,000 quarts of Canadian whole milk in powdered form left a Canadian port in September, 1941. Every month since then huge shipments have been sent overseas. Only three shipments have been lost by enemy action and the cost of these was fully covered by insurance. Through the co-operation of the Canadian high commissioner, the Women's Voluntary Services of Britain undertook the distribution of the milk in those places and to those children whose need was greatest.

"Intelligent free distribution was thus assured. Your contributions to the Kinsmen fund will be used only to send more milk as long as the need exists."

"When our children call on you on Saturday, please remember the need of our Kinsmen children in Britain and give as generously as your means permit."

"In view of the large number of new and changed listings in the latest issue, it is important to discard the old book promptly on receiving the new one, to avoid confusion," Mr. Bosdale said.

"Subscribers are being asked to contribute their old directories to the regular salvage collection, for paper is high on the list of badly-needed salvage articles."

County Urges Green Belts Around Towns, Villages

"One of the objectives of the county reforestation committee is to bring our forests to the people, and to assist in any way possible in this regard," Reeve J. D. Sibbald, Georgia township, chairman of the York county council reforestation committee, wrote in a letter heard by Aurora town council last week.

"Has your council considered doing any reforestation within their municipality, or have they any suggestions to make whereby our committee might help?" Mr. Sibbald wrote.

"Having 1,400 acres in a block, we can, insofar as the county is concerned, buy smaller blocks of land to be reforested by the provincial government."

"Our committee feel that it would be in the interests of the municipalities, and the county, if there could be green belts around the towns and villages for soil conservation, the preservation of water tables, wild life and the general beautifying of our countryside.

"Perhaps the cost of land would be prohibitive, but it would be greatly appreciated if you would bring this matter before your council."

"That would be outside the municipality," commented Mayor Ross Linton.

"I don't see where we are interested that we are," said Reeve C. E. Sparks. "The county buys the land but they don't want to pay more than $10 an acre."

"They will have to go some distance from Aurora," said Mayor Linton.

The council decided to take no action.

DOMINION-PROVINCIAL COMMITTEE ON FARM LABOUR AGRICULTURE-LABOUR-EDUCATION

DOWN THE CENTRE

Montreal sport fans answered a poll recently on the most popular French-Canadian athlete. Sgt. Gerard Cote had just won the famous Boston marathon for the third time, a mere jaunt of 21 miles against the continent's best. Maurice Richard, "Butch" Bouchard and others of Les Canadiens had brought Montreal its first professional hockey title in many years. Dave Castilloux and Johnny Gresco, both on active service, had added boxing triumphs.

The answer, however, was a decided vote for Yvon Robert, the professional wrestler, billed in Montreal as "the world's champion." Robert had as much right to the title as Wild Bill Longson, or Sandor Szabo, billed elsewhere as world's champs, but the fact remains that it was a wrestler who took the public fancy.

Wrestling is consistently week after week outdrawing other sporting attractions. We presume if a public ballot of a like nature were taken in Toronto that "Whipper" Billy Watson would be acclaimed the most popular athlete in the Queen City. After all, it is a matter of record that the debonaire Watson receives at least three or four proposals of marriage from the females every week via the post. It is the box office returns which give the acid test.

What is it the "rasslers" have to offer the public? The answer is that just as people go to the movie to see a show to be amused, so do the sport fans flock to see the grapplers. Modern wrestling is indeed a show, as most of those who attend know. The bouts are planned carefully in most cases by master scenario writers who know what the fans want and are ready to give it to them. The wrestlers themselves are for the most part good actors.

Lionel Barrymore, or the late Lon Chaney, was never able to grimace, or act better than most of the behemoths, and Clarke Gable and Robert Taylor emote no better in the hero role than do Watson, Szabo, Holbrook, Earl McCready and many others. They are sincere performers too, out to give a good show and they do just that without missing a cue. We estimate that 60 percent of those attending know the actual facts, and the other 40 percent probably still hang up their stockings at Christmas.

Yet the boys and girls go back for more. It is not so long ago that wrestling drew poor crowds. The late Frank Gotch, George Hackenschmidt and others doubtless were big drawing cards, because of skill and brute strength, but in the main if you wanted to enjoy a colorless, uneventful evening the place to go was to a wrestling match. Then the scene changed. The big boys got together and decided their profession needed revamping and streamlining if they were to get in the chips, and so Jack Pfeffer and Paul Bowser and other big promoters around New York and Boston got chain-store ideas, with wrestlers in every city and a swing around the circuit to the tune of, "It's your turn tonight, mine comes tomorrow."

College athletes like Gus Sonnenberg and Ed. Don George, internationally known, were induced to enter the game. Jim Londos, the "Golden Greek," brought the Greeks and Macedonians to follow the game. Gino Garibaldi and Mike Romano added the Italian touch. Dan O'Mahoney, Pat O'Shocker and "Crusher" Casey swung the Irish in line. The Russians, of course, with Stanley Slassak, Count Zaryoff and the Zbyzsko brothers were already pioneers in the field.

It remained for one of their number Ivan Michailoff, to bring modern wrestling to Toronto, and after he got it on its feet he was outmanoeuvred in the promotional end by Jack Corcoran, backed by Maple Leaf Gardens, who had hooked on with the leading circuit of the day. In those days there were three champions at least, London, Everett Marshall and John Pesek, but it was the London gang who held the box office punch. Corcoran retired because of ill health and the Toronto wrestling fell to his aide-de-camp since 1931, Frank Tunney.

Tunney has a good North York background. His grandfather was the late Hugh Tunney of Newmarket. His father is Thomas Tunney of Markham and it was in the southern village that the talented impressario was born. In the late twenties he used to play football and run for Markham high school and was a high jump specialist in inter-school competition. Taking over from Corcoran was a tough assignment but Frank had been well schooled, had a keen nose for the wants of the public and now a crowd of $800 is just slightly over average.

Unable to join the army because of physical ailments, Mr. Tunney is doing his part these days in relieving the monotony for soldiers by bringing the leading wrestlers to the various camps without charge. Controller Fred Hamilton of the Sports Service league is the first to give the wrestlers credit. They put on their usual high-class show for the boys for free. Biggest drawing wrestling show at Maple Leaf Gardens was, strangely enough, not one of the Watson-Longson classics but one Watson had with a villain by the name of "Hard-Boiled" Hannigan.

Mr. Tunney believes "Whipper" Watson to be the biggest drawing card on the continent because of his good looks, wrestling ability, attractive physique and personality. "Watson has more color than anyone else just now," Frank told yours truly. "Why he drew over 12,000 in St. Louis in his first show. Earl McCready, Bill Longson, Bronko Nagurski, Bobby Managoff, Vic Holbrook, Pat Flanagan and Yvon Robert are other boys who have big followings. McCready is one of the cleanest-cut wrestlers in the game."

Of course you can't expect Mr. Tunney to say anything about the ethics of the profession. He points out that some bouts are billed as "exhibitions" and the fans know this but avers that each wrestler is on his own when he comes to town. It is up to him to make good with the crowd. Championship bouts are just that, he declares.

Street scene: Sporting news comes sometimes from unusual sources. We were talking down the street the other day in a city quite a distance from Toronto, when we overtook two ladies. We had to walk behind them for some distance and couldn't help hearing what they said. Bridge was the subject. Said one: "That Mrs. Jones gets me down. She's a poor loser, and doesn't know the rules either."

The other replied: "Yes, that's right, dear, but we must remember she probably never had a chance to learn them properly, and hasn't associated enough with the people. That's why I like to see children learning to play games. They have to know how to take a beating, and the bumps they get do them good. They learn that there are rules, too, and the penalty for not living up to them too. I always insisted my children get out and take part in order that they know how to play the game."

We missed the rest but from an unexpected source we had summed up neatly the big reasons why we have been plugging for sports for the kids for some years.

Strange interlude: In the same city we went to see a night baseball game and from the press box had a pretty good view of the whole field and stands under the arc lights. We were attracted to a husky gent snoring loudly on a bench during the heat of the struggle. As might be guessed, he had visited a government liquid refreshment emporium and had in fast order eliminated from view his monthly quota. That wasn't the end of it, however, for a thick book, with an attractive cover, which caught our eye, Thomas B. Costain's "For My Great Folly."

Jimmy Lowe will be recalled by hockey fans as that great little winger who played for Aurora Tigers in 1939-40 and was a popular favorite with all. Next winter he went to Brantford Lions and was ticketed for Detroit Redwings when he joined the R.C.A.F. although at Victoria, B.C., and is quite a favorite there. He played with the Vancouver R.C.A.F. team last winter until it disbanded and then played a little civilian hockey. We have had news, girls. Gentleman Jim is a family man now, having middle-aged it last fall with a west coast beauty.

Hank Goldup, former member of Toronto Maple Leafs, will be back in action in pro hockey again next winter, as he has received an honorable discharge after serving a little over a year with the army. He kept up his hockey as a member of Army Shamrocks last winter and of course still has youth on his side. "Hap" Day will welcome him with open arms.

Woodenface is a game you probably never heard of but with hardball coming back among the kids in Aurora, Newmarket and Richmond Hill, Leonard Simmons, Charlie VanZant and Grant Nighswander might like to give it a trial among the kids. One of the Vancouver dailies has a contest for schoolboy hardball which is both beneficial and, of course, competitive. They have constructed a rectangular box which has a hollow centre exactly like a ball player at bat beside the plate. It goes as high as the shoulders and as low as the knees and is as wide as the homeplate. This forms a perfect target almost of what the average baseball pitcher has to fire at, except for the catcher behind.

The kids use the rubber with a hardball at the regulation distance and see who can throw over the most consecutive strikes or the most strikes in so many pitches. Prizes for the champion pitcher in each school and the city champion are provided. Considerable interest in hardball is thus stimulated and constant practice gives the lads competing some idea of the control needed and how to get it. It is an idea that costs little and might well be followed even by some of the older fellows, to get control and proper pitching values.

Fred Scheike, the stormy raceowner and trainer, apparently knew what he was doing when he turned down an offer of $25,000 made by New York sportsmen for his good horse Shepperton. Last year, of course, Shepperton was within about $5,000 of this amount in winnings, but there is always the danger of accident and disease, and a horse going stale, and so 25 grand must have looked pretty big and hard to refuse. Last week, however, big Shep, set a new track record at Woodbine Park, flying a mile and a sixteenth in 1:41 3/5, and winning slightly over $1,000.

The racing season has just started in Canada. With luck Mr. Scheike can both have his cake and eat it too. American tracks probably will be unwilling to see the good Canadian horse in action, and though the competition is keen, many believe the Gormley horse can run with the best. The U.S. purses are much bigger, but, of course, so are expenses, and then Mr. Hsley gets around to do a bit of proving too.

Seventh inning stretch has always been a recognized baseball habit. Capilano stadium at Vancouver has a new system that adds a patriotic motif and allows you to get equilibrium. As the first of the seventh inning ends the public address system blares forth "O Canada." Everybody stands at attention until the strain is ended. We know of no other ball park where a similar seventh inning stretch occurs. It presents quite a dramatic picture, too, as the players face the flag on the green award nath in floodlight. "The King" can't be played, of course, because that is generally accepted as ending a program, no sporting or otherwise.

Joe Shuggo, once ace of the New York Yankees, was now en route as a sergeant to the south Pacific, but not to fight necessarily. Joe and other pro ball players in the armed forces have been banded into two teams to bring big league baseball to the thousands of American doughboys down under, as a morale booster. Darby Lodigiani, who a few years ago played baseball with Toronto Leafs, is among the players selected for the trip. Joe, incidentally, was divorced not long ago by his wife, a former Zigfield Follies girl.

onto Maple Leafs ball club, is one of the most interesting figures in baseball today. Himself a great pitcher, as a player he was a firebrand on the field, and when he took up master-minding from the bench there were many who figured his temper would get him in continual hot water. At Brooklyn and Montreal this was so, but at Toronto he has really settled down. One of his early antagonists when he was with Brooklyn Dodgers was the celebrated umpire, Bill Klem. In one game Grimes took exception to Klem's decision, making a snawk while he was half-way from the bench to the plate. Klem waved him out of the game, and Burleigh shouted, "You can't do that. Bill. I haven't said a word to you." Klem nonchalantly insisted on his point, saying, "No, but you have been doing a heluva lot of thinking."

Stitch-hit may be a new word for your baseball vocabulary. It is our own coinage and originated a few weeks ago when we saw an unusual incident in semi-pro hardball. The batter whacked a pitch, and it started out in a nice easy loop to the shortstop who stood patiently waiting the easy catch, when lo, all of a sudden, the cover came off the ball; the sphere plummeted to earth like a spent rocket, and the runner was on first, before the bewildered infielder knew what to do with the ball. There was great debating by the team managers, umpires and fans. All were slightly befuddled. A quick search of the rule book couldn't solve it except ambiguously, and that favored the base runner, so he was declared safe.

You might expect that in the kids' games where old balls are used. It was a good ball but of the ersatz war-time kind, although it cost around $2.50. Maybe the rules will have to be changed to cover the point.

Ernie James, the husky Bradford boy who played junior lacrosse with Aurora Juniors and intermediate boxh with Bradford in the middle thirties, is stationed with the R.C.A.F. at Montreal. He is one of five brothers on active service, and is a brother of "Fat" James, former Aurora junior hockey captain and Mimico-Brampton lacrosse stalwart.

Rheumatic Pains

Rheumatic pains are often caused by uric acid in the blood. This blood impurthey fail, and excess uric acid remains, it irritates the muscles and joints causing excruciating pains. Treat rheumatic pains by keeping your kidneys in good condition.

MOUNT ALBERT BOY IS HONORED BY KING

Miss Ina Oldham, R.N., Toronto, spent a few days this week at her home in town.

Mrs. C. W. Davidson and Mr. and Mrs. Don. Loach, Toronto, were in town for the weekend.

Miss Helen Oliver, Toronto, is spending two weeks at her home in town.

If there were prizes given for improvements in property around town, Alva Lunau would certainly be a winner this year, as one has only to walk by to see the wonderful change in his home on the hill since he purchased it last year.

An old Mount Albert boy, Major J. L. Stiver, now at Camp Borden, has been honored by the king in being made a member of the Order of the British Empire.

Major Stiver is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Stiver.

Pte. and Mrs. David Taylor (nee Ruth Bain) and Mrs. Julia Bain were weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Pegg.

Mr. and Mrs. Bassett and Mrs. N. Bassett, Cannington, visited Mrs. Annie Harper and Mr. and Mrs. J. Slorach on Thursday.

Mr. Roy Carr and Mr. Milton Gibney attended the county Orange lodge in Aurora on Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Morley Lepard and baby of Newmarket were Sunday guests of Mrs. Sarah Cain.

Mrs. Annie Harper and Mr. and Mrs. J. Slorach were Sunday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. Watts.

The ladies of group two, Hartman, have raised a total of $103 since Jan. 1. They have made and quilted ten quilts. Nine of these were given to the Mount Albert Red Cross, the other was sold.

Miss Coulson gave a quilt. Two layettes were made and sent to the Salvation Army. A box a month has been sent to local boys stationed in Italy.

The following gifts have been made: Mount Albert Red Cross, $10; Milk for Britain fund, $5; Navy League, $10; prisoners of war fund, $20; Evening Telegram war victims' fund, $10.

The June meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the United church on Thursday afternoon. The net proceeds of the supper served on sports day amounted to $93.41.

The roll-call was answered by "My worst predicament," which was humorous. Mrs. W. D. Stokes, the district representative, and Mrs. Ken. Mitchell, the delegate, gave full reports on the district annual meeting.

Mrs. Oliver sang "Lords of the Air." Mrs. Al. Hopkins gave an interesting address on penicillin, a drug derived from the common blue mould found on bread, meat, etc.

Mrs. H. Shillinglaw gave a humorous reading, "Part 3 Orders." An interesting demonstration on first aid work, the different ways of using the three corner bandage and the figure eight bandage for sores, bruises and cuts proved helpful.

The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. W. D. Stokes and Mrs. Burgess.

Sunday was observed as a day of prayer in the United church. The Veterans attended the morning service in a body. The church is open each day for any who may care to go in for prayer.

A miscellaneous shower was held on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Ernie Davis for Miss Alice Slemmon, a bride of the near future. Miss Slemmon received many lovely gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. MacArthur, Sudbury, are visiting at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Harold Kurtz. The road is being re-surfaced from Mount Albert to Holt, which will be an improvement.

There will be no spring flower show this year but the Horticultural Society will try and make their fall show bigger and better than ever.

Mr. Geo. Burnham has gone to the Toronto General hospital for observation and treatment.

BOYS COW AT SALE BUT TAKES WRONG CRITTER

George B. Thompson, Richvale, pleaded guilty to a charge of illegal possession of liquor and was fined $10 and costs in magistrate's court, Newmarket, on Tuesday.

Magistrate W. P. Woodliffe ordered that the liquor found on the defendant be confiscated.

Constable Aubrey Fleury told his worship that on June 10 at about 10.45 p.m. he came across Mr. Thompson and two others in Whitchurch township. The defendant was drinking whiskey from a bottle. When the youths saw the police officer two of them ran away.

Magistrate Woodliffe dismissed a charge of stealing a cow against Earl Mundy, Belhaven, and recommended that the defendant and the complainant iron out their difficulties outside court.

Mrs. William Burns, R. R. 2, Maple, stated in the witness-box that she had purchased a cow at an auction sale at B. Weldrick's farm at Thornhill on March 22.

Mr. Mundy had purchased two cows. She said that when she went to get her cow, Mr. Mundy's trucker had taken it and left her one of those he had purchased. She stated that she had written to Mr. Mundy to take his cow and return hers but that she had not received any answer.

Cross-examined by N. L. Mathews, K.C., counsel for the defence, she denied ever receiving a letter from Mr. Mundy.

According to Mr. Weldrick, when he left the farm on the evening of the sale there were three cows left, one belonging to Mrs. Burns and the other two to Mr. Mundy. He was not present when the trucker arrived to take the Mundy cows away.

"On May 5 Mrs. Burns made a complaint to me," stated Constable Sidney Barraclough, who investigated. "On May 19 I went to see Mr. Mundy at Belhaven and asked about the cow. He said that his trucker had taken Mrs. Burns' cow by mistake. He said that he had received a registered letter from Mrs. Burns and wrote a letter back in which he said that he thought that he should receive two months feed for the cow and transportation costs. He agreed to the exchange of cows."

Questioned by the defence, the officer stated that from information received he learned that Mrs. Burns had not received Mr. Mundy's letter.

Pointing out that the cow which Mrs. Burns received was milking while she had it and was now going dry and that the one she had purchased and which Mr. Mundy's trucker had taken by mistake, was only starting to give milk now, Mr. Mathews argued that the claimant had received the best of the bargain and should pay for the transportation of the cows when exchanged. Crown Attorney Arleigh Armstrong did not agree.

"Do you think, Mr. Armstrong, that there is any question of theft in this case?" asked Magistrate Woodliffe. "Surely if Mr. Mundy stole a cow, so did Mrs. Burns."

The crown agreed that there was not sufficient evidence to warrant a conviction on a charge of theft. He said that Mr. Mundy should have returned the cow when he learned of the error.

Samuel Catania, King township, pleaded not guilty to a charge of threatening Michael Catania. Magistrate Woodliffe dismissed the charge and bound the defendant over in the sum of $100 to keep the peace for one year.

Michael Catania testified that his farm was adjacent to the property of the defendant's father and that a water course ran through both properties. He stated that on June 1 he noticed that the water was stopped up at the fence line and he removed the material blocking the course of the water. He stated that Sam Catania, whom he said to be a distant relative, appeared with a gun and threatened to send him to the hospital if he did not stop opening the ditch.

Asked if he was afraid that the defendant would carry out his threat, the witness said that he was afraid that he might do so.

Mrs. Catania, wife of the previous witness, stated that she also heard the accused make the threatening remarks.

When asked if he wished to give evidence on his own behalf, Samuel Catania denied making any threatening remarks. He admitted saying, "If I get you opening that ditch I'll knock your block off."

Cross-examined by N. L. Mathews, K.C., counsel for Michael Catania, the defendant denied that the water course was a natural one. He said that he blocked the course because the water flooded the barnyard.

John and Mike Catania, brothers of the defendant, testified that they had heard their brother say that he would knock Michael Catania's head off. Both denied that they believed that he meant what he said.

These disputes between one property-owner and another must be taken up in the civil courts, Magistrate Woodliffe told the defendant. "You must not threaten nor take the law into your own hand. If you have trouble about the line fences or water courses, take it to the civil court."

"It's probable that you did not mean any harm by the threat. But apparently Mr. Catania believed that you did and he has a right to protection. I am going to bind you over in the sum of $100 to keep the peace for one year with Mr. Catania and all other subjects. You leave him alone."
